Flax Culture in Oregon

A short time since we endeavored in a brief and hastily written article, to convey some idea of the importance to which our wool growing and manufacturing interests had attained, and sought to awaken more active enterprise among the farmers and shepherds of Oregon, to the end that we might speedily assume that station among producers for which the hand of Providence seems to have destined us. The wild sheep then alluded to are no more certain evidence of the adaptability of our climate to the successful production of wool, than is the fact that flax is indigenous to our valley and a guarantee that this plant may become a prominent staple of Oregon at an early day, if our farmers will cultivate it with the assiduous and wisely directed attention which is a concomitant of success in all enterprises We have been informed by one of the early settlers that there was scarcely a valley in Oregon but what, at the date of its settlement, contained more or less flax growing in a state of wild and rank luxuriance For some reason, its cultivation has been in the main neglected, and hence, what might already have become an important source of revenue still remains among the products concerning which a majority of our farmers are too little disposed to speculate and experiment A few well read and energetic men to be sure, have passed beyond the confines of experiment, annually devoting a portion of their land and time to the cultivation of flax, with as much careful method as they would give to their cereal crops, and with more certainty of a profitable yield Those who have given it a fair trial in Oregon, pronounce their efforts at its cultivation a complete triumph, regard the climate and soil as admirably adapted to heavy crops, and consider this information only necessary to induce others to turn their attention to producing sufficient at least to supply our home necessities

As a source of profit to the farmer, statistics show that flax has few if any equals on land suited to its cultivation In the older States, where it has been cultivated with system, undeniable authority accords it a profit per acre from three to four times greater than that derived from oats It is claimed in the West, where it is principally raised for the seed, while the fibre is not used, that the seed alone secures a better average compensation than wheat The present unfortunate condition of the country, when a large proportion of the industrial element is engaged in business other than producing, so that the former crops of flax in the Northern States must be reduced more or less, the high price of cotton goods and their prospective scarcity for years to come, tend to create a demand for and correspondingly increase the price of flax and linen fabrics. So soon as we are prepared with a sufficient crop to warrant its introduction, there will be ample machinery in the State to convert it into all the various articles in which has a fabric it has no superior Already a home market has opened for the seed, for conversion into oil, thus securing another article of stock feed in the oil cakes, the qualities of which, either for fatting animals or maturing the soil are too generally understood by farmers to require any essays from the theorist We can make our own cordage, twines, summer clothing, table linen, duck, drillings, etc, and keep the cost of their importation at home, just as well as to get our goods from abroad

HEAVY GUNS COMING —The bark H W Almy, Capt Freeman, sailed from San Francisco on the 22d inst, for this city having on board, with other freight, two 10-inch and two 15-inch guns, with carriages, etc, which she will discharge at the mouth of the Columbia river, to be placed on the fortifications, now in course of construction there These 15-inch guns are like the Comanche's and their mates have been landed at Fort Alcatraz, where they will be mounted so as to command the Golden Gate

RETURNING —From the dispatch given below, dated at Salem last evening, it will be perceived that the party of gentlemen who left here several days since for the Santiam mines are on their way home We hope to be able to give our readers an interesting account of their trip and investigations

SALEM June 30—5 p m —The Santiam brigade arrived this afternoon [illegible] Messrs Ladd Green Davis Reed Farrish Van Slyke and Loryea six teen and a half hours from [illegible]

Of the three hundred delegates at the Radical Democratic Convention which nominated Fremont in Cleveland one hundred and two were sent from the city of St Louis alone

The Danish monarchy is now reduced to two islands of the sea, frozen up six months in the year

VALLANDIGHAM THE TRAITOR —The news of Vallandigham's return from exile is confirmed He has not only come back to Ohio, but as big a traitor as he went and has already commenced the exercise of free speech —as claimed by the Fremont platform The policy of the Government in regard to him seems reticent—waiting for new provocations, if it wants any, for his re arrest Vallandigham by returning has shown himself to be a man of nerve He defies the Government and evinces a faith in the people for protection The traitor undoubtedly has been assured by his brother Democrats that he shall receive protection Perhaps the scheme in behalf of the Secessionists invited his return as a means of creating a Democratic rebellion in Ohio—thinking that the Democracy would rally at his re arrest and thus inaugurate a war at home The traitor no doubt acts in concert and under the advice of the Vallandigham branch of the party The question now is, will the Government molest him? We think not unless he gets rampant In that case he will be quietly and unexpectedly marched off to Fort Lafayette There is no doubt in our mind whether he does not accomplish more good than harm to the Government by his impudent and seditious teachings His political influence has departed, he being repudiated by a majority of the Copperheads of his State, in their late State Convention Passion and retaliation demands that he should be re arrested and punished—punished by death Reason and prudence dictates that he should be allowed to pursue his own inclination to the utmost bounds of the endurance and patience of the Government If he exceeds these bounds, the safety and dignity of the Government will demand and justify his re arrest We await with no little patience the course he will pursue —Appeal

PETERSBURG —This city is situated in Dinwiddie county, Virginia, on the east bank of the Appomattox, at the crossing of the Great Southern Railroad, twenty two miles south of Richmond and ten miles from James river at City Point In a military point of view it holds about the same relation to Richmond that Jackson did to Vicksburg in Grant's Mississippi campaign An enemy posted there would vex the rear of an army attacking Richmond on the south side of the James and the position also commands a great line of supply Petersburg is the third city in Virginia in population, having had in 1860 about 18,000 inhabitants Vessels of one hundred tons can ascend the river to the city wharves, and those of larger size to Port Waltham, six miles below Previous to the war large quantities of tobacco and flour were exported from this place The city has also factories and foundries which have been of great service to the enemy On the west bank of the river is a suburb called Pocahontas Petersburg was the principal depot of the slave trade between Virginia and the cotton States.—Union

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT — The Senate bill proposing to amend the Constitution of the United States so as to prohibit slaveholding throughout the republic has received the concurrence of the requisite two thirds in the House of Representatives The measure has yet to receive the sanction of three fourths of all the States in the Union, before it can become a part of the fundamental law of the land The vote in the House of Representatives was 91 to 65—just three more than the number required by the Constitution

THE IMMENSE LINE OF IMMIGRATION —A gentleman who has just arrived from the East by way of Overland stage, says the Territorial Enterprise, has been telling us of the immensity of emigration on the way to this country He says that the number of people and wagons is astonishing He found the Platte river so high that the wagons could not be taken across At Julesburg, a crossing place, he counted above six hundred wagons, and he is confident, that if all the wagons which he saw on the route were placed in line, they would extend from Julesburg to Atcheson—a distance of about 400 miles

A NOBLE DONATION —The New York Tribune of May 27th, says the Directors of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, at a meeting held on the 18th inst, appropriated $10,000, to be used for the relief of the sick and wounded soldiers, and divided as follows To the Christian Commission, $5,000, to the Western Sanitary Commission, $3,000, to the United States Sanitary Commission, $2,000 The same amount was also contributed last year for this worthy and patriotic purpose by this company

NEW MAP —We received per mail from San Francisco, a new and valuable "Map of the Seat of War around Richmond," just published by A Gensoul, 511 Montgomery street It is clearly defined, well executed and circles drawn to represent intervening distances of three miles, with Richmond a centre, enables one to comprehend the position of the great armies just now attracting such close interest It is compiled from the latest official surveys, and is a convenient sheet to put up in every place of business

KEEP THE ENEMY OUT —At the Union Convention of the State of New York, Lyman Tremaine said

The Union party does not intend to do anything to afford aid and comfort to the enemy For three years the loyal people of the North have been struggling against the efforts of those in rebellion to possess themselves of the National Capital, and they do not propose to allow the sympathizers with Jeff Davis to enter it under the form of an election The Union armies will, I trust, ere long take the rebel Capital, but you loyal men prepare to retain possession of your own

Company B 2d California Cavalry, commanded by Captain J C Cremony has returned to Camp Drum San Pedro after having been upwards of two years in arduous service in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas

Eighteen thousand dollars in gold was forwarded to the Sanitary Commission from Sacramento on the 18th This amount has all been obtained since Grant commenced fighting in Virginia

The New York Independent says that a rough estimate from tabular statistics makes the average wages of the thirty thousand working women of New York less than fifty cents per day

"DEATH BEFORE LIBBY PRISON."

The Position is Retaken, and the Rebels are Driven across the Weldon Railroad, which is to be Destroyed.

TERRIFIC BATTLE NEAR LYNCHBURG, VIRGINIA.

Rebel Account of the Battle.

NEW YORK June 24 —The Commercial says the high prices have brought out a good deal of gold which was bought in small lots at about 210 and sold at 21 @214 No large amounts were sold at that figure Parties from Washington say the gold law will be modified in favor of the use of gold checks

NEW YORK June 25 —The Grand Jury in the case of the seizure of the World and Journal of Commerce by the Government refused to find a bill of indictment

The Times special of the 24th says that on the 21st the 2d corps moved to a position half way between the Norfolk and Petersburg Railroad and the Weldon road The enemy was found in force two miles this side of the latter road A lively skirmish ensued but the rebels position was found too strong and our advance fell back to the main body and the 2d army corps was put in the line of battle ready for action

Heavy cannonading was heard at City Point on the 23d It is not known that it proceeded from a general engagement

A correspondent dating from headquarters says about eight o'clock (21st) the enemy's cavalry dashed into our lines but immediately disappeared on discovering our force A small party of rebels were captured belonging to Hill's Longstreet's and Ewell's corps showing that those troops are in our front

The World's special says that heavy firing was heard at City Point on Thursday noon in the direction of Petersburg also towards Fort Darling It is reported that our army is gradually moving towards the left Passengers report the steeples and towers of Petersburg have been shot away

The Washington Star last evening says Grant's army occupied a position in the Pine woods on the outskirts of Petersburg lately occupied by the rebels, including all their works on the south side of the Appomattox thus commanding Petersburg and the railroad through Petersburg the only one between Richmond and Weldon Our guns stop all continuous communication by railroad between Richmond and other parts of the South So long as Grant chooses he can thus hold the enemy by the throat at Petersburg From his present position he can move south with 20 days rations and compel Gen Lee to follow him and risk a heavy engagement on unfortified ground

Assistant Secretary Dana says our entire loss since crossing the James river is not over 10 000 while the rebels, he thinks, is proportionately as great

The Tribune's correspondent writing from Gen Butler's head quarters on the 21st says Gen Foster with his troops moved north of James river to a position within 9 miles of Richmond and entrenched himself This movement puzzles the rebels greatly

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, June 23 —The attack upon the 2d corps on the 22d, near Weldon Railroad did not result so disastrously as was supposed A line was formed by Barlow's division on the left Birney's and Mott's in the centre and Gibbon's on the right It was expected that the 6th corps would have continued on the left with Barlow but it seems there was quite a gap left into which A P Hill's rebel corps entered, and before our men were aware they received a volley from the rear which created a panic in our ranks and caused a rapid retreat to the woods in the rear of the 3d division This left the flank of the 3d division unprotected and the enemy taking advantage of it charged through and fairly into our rifle pits ordering our men to surrender Our troops, however left the trenches, and fell back rapidly many being captured, and quite a number were killed and wounded Our loss in prisoners is reported to be 1600 while some estimate it higher The loss of the enemy in killed is about 1000 A number of officers have just joined their commands after being exchanged Some of them, when ordered to surrender replied "Death before Libby Prison" and fought their way out many succeeding in getting back to our lines At 8 o'clock p m a charge was made by the 2d corps and the line from which they were driven in the afternoon was retaken Our loss in this attack was very slight as the rebels fired too high A large number of prisoners was taken Skirmishing was kept up all night the pickets at some points being but 50 yards apart At daylight this morning an advance of the whole line was made and it was found that the rebels had taken a new position some distance further back where they had thrown up intrenchments during the night which they still hold

Another dispatch says the 6th corps moved toward the railroad this morning, driving the enemy before them in the afternoon it was reported that we were in possession of the road and arrangements are being made to destroy it

A dispatch dated this morning, the 24th has the following

Nothing but picket firing occurred last night and there has been but very little fighting this morning

NEW YORK June 24 —The Lynchburg Republican of the 20th says

On Friday the 17th Crook and Averill reached a position near Quaker Church on the Salem turnpike four miles from the city on the left of our lines where considerable skirmishing occurred with our cavalry under Imboden In the fight the enemy gained some advantages our lines giving way before the charge which was promptly checked by our infantry [illegible] at daylight heavy firing of artillery on our left and centre told that the fight had begun and it was believed that a general engagement was progressing but it was soon ascertained that it was nothing but an artillery duel and up to one o'clock p m, no infantry had been brought into action Shortly after the discharges increased with rapidity and sharp musketry [illegible] the rear of artillery About this time the enemy advanced in two lines of battle and captured the entrenchments on the left of the turnpike [illegible] Again they rallied [illegible] the charge and again they were repulsed [illegible] 10 killed left on the field and some 20 prisoners were taken Including the killed and captured our loss was 200 [illegible] the [illegible] It was ascertained that the enemy had retired on Saturday The battle ground was on both sides of the turnpike about two and a half miles southwest of the city A [illegible] the enemy in the rear right and centre [illegible] they [illegible] after a fierce [illegible] two hours [illegible] in the field

A [illegible] cavalry made a demonstration on Saturday 18th on our extreme right on the Forest road [illegible] five miles from the [illegible] Our friends may rest assured that the Lynchburg [illegible] was about 20 miles from the city A general [illegible] Sunday [illegible] scouts [illegible] reported a body of Yankee cavalry 700 strong [illegible] Alexandria Mills [illegible] Campbell Court House on Saturday [illegible] going in a direction south of the railroad It [illegible] they are endeavoring to cut the railroad [illegible] about 5000 [illegible] bridge of the [illegible] near Danville It is supposed their [illegible] is to tap the Richmond and Danville road

BUSINESS.—While our neighboring cities send us complaints of dull times, we of Portland should be gratified at the prosperity which has attended us, in business matters generally, so far on the present year. We hear of very few risks having been taken to sustain what is literally the greatest amount of our operations, and the fact is that there has been no need of any. Since the opening of spring trade, our merchants have refused to take goods except as they have paid for them, and their credit stands high. There has been no great stringency in the money market, and our manufacturing interests have been progressing unimpeded for the want of funds ... to day from the Northern to the Southern extremity of the city nothing but activity is to be pictured. Messrs Harbaugh & Stitzel are running their saw mill day and night, in order to keep up with their business, and supply an order for the Sandwich Islands now loading. The Union Salt Works of Messrs Richards & McCraken, and the Oregon Salt Works, of Capt. Dodge, are both in full operation. The various manufactories, and the merchants throughout the city, all appear to have enough to do. At the south portion we find Messrs. Estey & Stimpson, cutting from 7,000 to 9,000 feet lumber daily at their saw mill. The sash factories of Messrs Carson & Porter, and Messrs J P Walker & Co., are kept busy, employing a large force. The turpentine works are in a flourishing condition, and thus we find Portland employed, in the various trades. Farmers teams throng the streets, our steamers are frequently overrun with carrying the products, and why should we not be prosperous.

AN EMPTY JAIL.—The 1st day of July this year finds the Multnomah County Jail without an inmate. The docket of the Recorder is but little used, and ... dust will have soon enveloped the books of ... Justices. Should matters progress as peaceably in future as for some time past the raking up of ... necessary to establish a case in the lower courts will be suggestive of the stirring up of ... catacomb, for references to the "issues ... between plaintiff and defendant, in ancient ... Recorder McCoy informs us that this is the ... since he has been acting as Recorder—... going on the third term—that the Court has ... every day, except Sundays, for the transaction of business.

They were accompanied by the Superintendent, and several of the ... and bearing the sun browned features of a few who had wandered beyond the shade looked ... upon returning.

CORNET PRESENTATION.—The Mechanics' Brass Band, of this city have been made the recipients of handsome tokens of esteem, by Mrs J P Denison, who has forwarded to them the cherished instrument and music of her deceased husband, and their late musical brother. The correspondence handed us by Mr Everest, the leader, is unavoidably crowded out this morning, but will appear to morrow.

THE FALLINSBURG.—Among the many handy crafts from the briny waters of the deep, visiting our wharves, none present a neater or cleaner appearance than the bark Jane A. Fallinsburg which takes her departure this morning, in tow of the steamer J. H. Couch, to finish her cargo with lumber at Young's River Mill, below Astoria, whence she will sail for San Francisco.

MUSICAL.—The dull set notes of a cosmopolitan's organ are distinctly heard at evening, on the corner near our office, ground out by a man who is employed during the day carrying brick, and in the evening at his regular calling. He is an energetic cus tomer and if he don't "feather his nest" in Oregon no body else need try.

Complaints of Children.—In the case of fast growing and scrofulous children predisposed to curvatures and other deformities, it is often desirable to give a tonic without stimulants, and an alterative without irritation. For such it would be impossible to select a preparation combining so many of the above advantages as the PERUVIAN SYRUP.

Coughs and Colds.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily when taken in the early stages of the disease recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges let the Cold, Cough or Irritation of the throat be ever so slight as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. Soldiers should have them as they can be carried in the pocket, and taken as occasion requires.

Redington & Co, San Francisco, Agents for the Pacific Coast.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties and it is recommended to mothers enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful, and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants.—Sold by all Druggists and Dealers everywhere. ap26d1m

In every age of the World, the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries or the expediency of adopting them in practice. It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence, neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians. Each deprecates whatever is found to innovate upon received opinions and established usages. Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value, or great efficiency in the cure of disease. No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than Dr Osgood's India Cholagogue. The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague, and eradicates bile from the system, is acknowledged by all.

Be particular to enquire for Dr Osgood's India Cholagogue, and take no other. Sold everywhere.

What the Japanese Think of the French.—The Japanese Ambassadors who visited France last year have published their diary through the bookseller Fen-Yah at Yeddo. Among other things, it is therein said that the people of the West are very little different from each other. The dress is the same, as well as the weapons, though one nation manages them better than another, the French, above all, appear to excel therein. Ceremonies and honors are very easy, and the honors to be paid to the sovereign are very nearly the same as to a person of inferior rank—one takes his hat off, makes a small reverence, and therewith the thing is finished. At our audiences with the princes they were not separated from us by a curtain, even the princess was not veiled, and sits as high as the prince. The lords were very civil, even too civil, for they allowed us to eat and drink more than was in accordance with our ceremonies. The lower classes were less civil, and unequivocally demonstrated that they found us ugly. Among the women there are handsome ones—among others, the Empress of the French. They run like a man. In order to appear taller they wear a high bonnet. Even fashionable women dance very much; they hang on the arms of the men, and one sees the men frequently run along the streets in the arms of women. We believe them to be their own wives. Women in general enjoy too much liberty, and the fashionable ones wear the same dresses as those of the lower class. The dress of the women, especially at night, is not always decent. Excepting the Dutch women, all other Europeans stand below the French. The men are stiff, rough and a little proud. They wear no weapons, and very seldom the distinctions of their rank. It appears that everybody, and even the fashionable people, frequent the "cafes." High officers even frequent the theatres. We were sorry we could not understand everything there. Almost everybody had a spying-glass, which, perhaps from distraction, was always directed at us. The merchants are proud, and the shopkeepers do not like one to turn their articles too much about. It annoyed us very much to see raw meat exhibited in the towns. Eating meat is often very healthy; but why exhibit it to every one? In Paris and London they run (walk) very fast, just as they do in our country when there is a fire. The houses are so high that they must be destroyed at the first earthquake. They appear, however, to stand against fire.

Amazons in Battle—Defeat of the King of Dahomey's Troops by the Egbas.—The English papers received by the Asia contain accounts of a sanguinary battle in Africa between the troops of the King of Dahomey and the tribe of the Egbas. The Dahomian Amazons fought bravely, but the Egbas won the victory. It is related in the description of the fight that the King of Dahomey marched in person on the 15th of March at the head of ten thousand troops, male and female, and on the 16th attacked the Egbas in their fortified town of Abbeokuta, a place of two hundred thousand inhabitants. The King had three brass field six-pound pieces, bearing the inscription upon the breech of "Mexico, 1815." He advanced to within fifty yards of the wall of Abbeokuta, then suddenly displayed his flags, extended his lines and then marched rapidly toward the wall. The Egbas immediately opened a tremendous fire on the line, and arrested them at once. In the advancing column were Amazons who fought bravely and desperately. Many of these furies climbed the wall, which is more than 15 feet high; but, so soon as they reached the top, the Egbas dragged them over and slew them. One Amazon, who had one of her hands cut off in her efforts to clamber over the wall, discharged her musket with the other hand and shot an Egba. She received a severe blow from a saber and fell backward into the trench. The Dahomians were utterly defeated. They lost upward of one thousand killed and the number of prisoners is said to exceed two thousand. The Dahomians fled in two divisions. In front of the division which took first to flight was the doughty King himself. The Egbas pursued both divisions and slaughtered the fugitives without mercy and without a pause. Seeing the discomforture of the King, the inhabitants of the neighboring croons turned out and joined heartily in the general massacre. Of his three field pieces, the King had the misfortune to leave two in the keeping of the Egbas.

Another account says of the fighting of the Amazons: "Some of the desperate Amazons rushed to the wall (on the part defended by the Christian converts and the people of Ijeun) with ferocious resolution, plunging into the trench and endeavoring to scale the wall, others attempting to enter the town by the excavations under the wall; they were shot in the trench or cut down in their mad attempt to scale the wall. Some Amazons gave the defenders a little annoyance, for when in the trench they threw large stones over the wall on the Egbas, and snatched away about six muskets from the hands of the Egbas in the act of firing; by an equal determination on the part of the Egbas they were killed. No fewer than seventy-two dead Dahomians were counted afterwards from the trench at this point. On the Own side of the walls three ferocious Amazons actually planted their banners along the wall, but were instantly cut down, their heads and hands stuck on poles and exhibited over the wall with a general shout of victory from the Egbas.

Letter from Mrs. Partington to the St. Louis Sanitary Fair.—In the first number of a paper called the Countersign, published in the Fair buildings, is the following letter from B. P. Shillaber (Mrs. Partington) in response to a letter requesting his attendance at the Fair:

Boston, April 11, 1864.

My Dear Madam: Not being very dexterious with a pen, ma'am, and troubled with a romantic twinge in my right shoulder, my little boy, which is Isaac, writes for me to say how facilitated I should be to make your invitation acceptable, and come to your Salutary Fair on the 17th. Most salutary it is, to be sure, where War is so destructible to human life, dear me, and clothing is nothing. What would the poor soldiers have done if that excellent body and soul hadn't come, with healing on its wings, bringing consolation and new clothes, to say nothing of the stockings and the old sheets torn up for bandages for the sufferers, blessings upon 'em and amen to it. Tears come into my eyes as I think of all the good it has done, and may do—may heaven be rewarded for it—and I am very sorry that I cannot come and be one of the features of the Fair, though my features are not fair; but, bless you, you may have the features, without my coming at all, for I have got a friend to go and sit for me at a photographer's whose liniments I send in this. They are not handsome, but that is not his fault nor mine.

I wish I was as rich as Creosote, and had a bank of money to send you, but, alas, the will must be taken for the deed, though that may not bring the fracture of a cent in the great aggregation. That the purse of the Commissaries may be crowded with greenbacks, and their hands and hearts strengthened for good by your Fair, is the desire of my heart, which it is my prayer that it may be realized.

Yours, devotionally,
RUTH PARTINGTON,

Attest: Ike Partington. Her signature.

On Monday, June 13th, the wire suspension bridge that spans the South Fork of the Mokelumne river, on the road leading from Mokelumne Hill to West Point, fell, carrying sixty head of cattle that were on it along with it. The bridge was fifty feet high; the cattle were all killed. They belonged to one Miller, who resides near Stockton, and were on their way to the mountains in quest of pasture. The bridge was owned by a man named Sawyer.—Argus.

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

OR PROTECTED

Solution of Protoxide of Iron,

Has been used with Great Success in Curing

DYSPEPSIA,

Affections of the Liver, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Scurvy, the prostrating effects of Lead or Mercury,

GENERAL DEBILITY,

and all Diseases which require a

Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous, so well authenticated, and of such peculiar character, that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure, is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill. The facts are tangible, the witnesses accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the "Peruvian Syrup," do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by combination in a way before unknown; and this solution may replace all the proto carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M. D.

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART, LIVER, KIDNEYS, DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless, until Dr Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER,

without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 4, 1856, page 16.)

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

The medicine restores the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND CATARRH OF THE BLADDER, STRANGUARY AND BURNING OR PAINFUL URINATING, CALCULUS, GRAVEL, BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.
